

Oh Malvan!

A land of prosperity by the Arabian sea, brought to glory and riches by none other than the supreme commander and the righteous overlord, his highness Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj.

The visionary who envisioned and built the awe-inspiring and famed Sindhudurg fort by serene coastal harbour that's now a hub of bustling commerce and tourism!

The etymology of the term Malvan, stems from the Marathi term Maadbun, an allusion to the coconut palm rows that dot the salt-pan region of Maharashtra's southern coast... Malvan as we call it today, is a disambiguation of the archaic term that was used to denote this patch of the seaside with swaying and whistling palms ...
